School Day Guidelines

Schools are required to have a minimum of 180 school days in the yearly calendar. There must be a minimum of 176 in-class instruction days. An additional 4 non-in-class days can count as school days to make 180.

The following days are Conference non-in-class instruction days that are currently counted in the attached 183-day calendar:

- 2 days - August 4 & 5 - Conference in-service meeting (required)
- 1 day - January 5 - Conference in-service meeting (required)
- 1 day - August school registration day OR Sunday picnic day / field day

(As a note, Music Festival is counted as an in-class instruction day.)

Snow Days and Virtual Days

Snow days count against in-class instruction days.

Virtual Snow Days - YES (no snow days planned in the calendar; virtual school)

Minimum in-class instructional days needed: 176

Minimum non-instructional days needed: 4

- 3 days: August 4 & 5 and January 5 are already planned into the calendar
- 1 additional day could be a registration day or a Sunday field day / picnic day

Virtual Snow Days - NO (3 snow days planned in the calendar; no virtual school)

Minimum in-class instructional days needed: 179

Minimum non-instructional days needed: 3

- 3 days: August 4 & 5 and January 5 are already planned into the calendar
- Additional day would be either a registration day or a Sunday field day / picnic day

Half-days / Minimum Days

A school year can have a maximum of six half-days (a.k.a. “minimum days”). A half-day has four hours of instruction. There are no scheduled half-days included in this calendar. Your school may turn up to six regular school days into half-days.

Flexible Dates

To meet individual school needs, schools will have flexibility with the following dates but still must meet the minimum number of school days:

- School must start between August 11 and August 15, 2025
- Thanksgiving vacation days
- School must end between May 13 and May 15, 2026

When your school board has approved the calendar, you must submit it to the Education Department for final approval before distributing it to your community.

The Calendar Evaluation Form must be completed and accompany the calendar that is submitted to the Conference Office of Education for approval.

Calendar submissions for 2025-2026 are due March 18, 2025.
